Quantities of palms and ferns form-ed a background for huge clusters of yellow and white Chrysanthemums. The bride who was escorted by her father, wore a graceful gown of white satin and silver lace made in bouffant style, the waist being fashloned aimost entirely of silver lace and net. The sleeves of the latter material, were finished at the hand with seed pearls, and pearls formed the ornament which held the long tulle veil, fan fashion, in shape. The bridal bouquet was of roses and alley lilies.
Miss Dorothy Dent was the bride's only attendant, and her gown of pussy willow taffeta was peach blown pink in tone, and made with high drapery, was trimmed with silver lace. She carried Ophelia roses. The Rev. Dr. Harry Mitchell per formed the ceremony, and the men of the wedding party were, Mr. Cai-vin Cramer, best man for his brother, and Mr. Hugh Duffey, brother of the bride; Mr. George Palmer, Mr. Walter Bradshaw and Mr. Brown, ushers. Efforts Being Made to Bring John Philip Sousa Here.

Strong efforts are being made by officers of the Naval Recruiting Sta-on the night of the 13th instant, and of the Great Lakes training station, of the Great lakes training station, near Chicago, to come to this city on the night of the 13th instant, and give a concert. The band has a membership of 250, and is under the leadership of John Philip Sousa, the enowned bandmaster.

Lieut. Morgan suggests that some charitable institution take the matter up with a view of bringing the hand here on the date named, and that whatever proceeds are derived from the concert, after payment of transportation and other expenses, should go to the navy relief fund. He thinks the band would prove a great darwing card here, and that active measures should be taken at once by local charitable bodies to induce it to visit Washington.

How to Be Happy Though Married.

A young couple who are going to be married soon came to me the other day and said:

"Everyone speaks of matrimony as the biggest gamble on earth, and as if it were purely a matter of luck how it turned out. Judging from most of the people we know this appears to be true, and they guessed wrong. We do not wish to leave the success of our marriage to blind chance. Are there no rules by which one can play a sane and safe game with a fair certainty of winning out?"

"Why, bless you, my children," I though matried is to determine to the supply it is to determine to the supply it is to determine to the success of our marriage to blind chance. Are there no rules by which one can play a sane and safe game with a fair certainty of winning out?"

"The husbands who lie to their wives about having to work at night wives about having to work at night with the men married to women who make them punch the time clock. The husbands and wives generally who jump over the bars are those who are bossed at home to such an extent that they are willing to risk anything to get away from their keepers for a little while and have a breath of freedom.

"The thusbands who lie to their wives about having to work at night wives about having to work at night.

a sane and safe game with a fair certainty of winning out?"

"Why, bless you, my children," I replied, "there is no more real reason why marriage should not be a sure-fire happiness proposition than there is why any other human undertaking should fall. And it would be so if people would only apply one-half of the enerty and effort and in telligence toward making marriage a success that they do toward making a grocery business or a bridge whist a success.
